SIXTY - FIRST

ANNUAL REPORT

The Annual General Meeting of the Whitchurch Cottage Hospital was held at the Hospital on Wednesday, June 23rd, Mr. R. J. Eccleston, chairman, presiding, supported by Mr. Edward South, secretary, and Mr. Mason, treasurer. Apologies for absence were received from General Lyon, Mrs. Worthington, Mr. Sowden, Capt. Black, Mrs. Hall and Dr. McCarter.

Presenting the 61st annual report and statement of accounts, Mr. Eccleston said he was doing so on the eve of the transfer of the hospital under the National Health Act.

In common with other voluntary institutions, they had experienced great difficulty in meeting the rising costs, which had outpaced the income despite their efforts to increase the latter. This was no doubt largely due to the introduction of the new scheme as many public bodies and individual subscribers had withdrawn their voluntary support. Under the new Act the Government would take over the responsibility of the administration of the hospital. In what manner exactly this would be done as yet they had no knowledge, but they could all look back with great pride on the progress which had been made since the building of the original Cottage Hospital was first contemplated in 1884.

Mr. Eccleston said without doubt they were handing over one of the most fully equipped and up-to-date small hospitals in the country and this was entirely due to the support given by the public and the careful management of the committee during all these years. The committee extended their grateful thanks to all who had assisted to maintain the hospital in such a manner as to be worthy of being incorporated in the new social scheme.

It was interesting to note that in the past five years the sum of £900 had been expended on additions and improvements to surgical and medical equipment, as well as £420 on alterations to the premises to facilitate and extend the treatment necessary for patients.

The accounts for the year ended December 31st, 1947, would have shown a considerable loss had it not been for the transfer of the credit balance of the equipment fund. There were further large increases in fuel and light and in salaries and wages, while general income had not reached the level of 1946 by some £300.

The number of admissions during 1947 was nearly 30 less than in the previous year but out-patients and X-ray cases had increased. Average weekly total cost of each in-patient had now reached £8 14s 4d compared with just over £6 in 1946.

The Report and Accounts were adopted by resolution proposed by Mrs. Corser seconded by Miss Darlington.

COMMITTEE

The retiring members of the Committee were re-elected as follows: Mrs. Lambert, Mrs. Wynn, Mrs. T. Thompson, Miss Vawdrey and Miss Darlington.

Expressing thanks to the treasurer, Mr. J. E. J. Mason, Mrs. Geoffrey Lee referred to the capable manner in which he had looked after the financial side.

Mr. G. W. Bristow was re-elected honorary auditor.

Thanks to the medical staff were moved by Mr. R. B. Jones, a former chairman, who said the hospital was fortunate to have such a good team of medical practitioners. He expressed the hope that patients would have the same consideration and attention as had been experienced in the past.

Dr. Mollie McCarter responded.

The matron and staff were complimented upon their services to the hospital by Mrs. R. A. Black. The fact that they had a nursing and domestic staff that functioned so well had had a great deal to do with the smooth working and success of the establishment, and the many letters of appreciation which had been received from ex-patients paid tribute to them.

Proposing thanks to Mr. Eccleston, as chairman, Col. Godsall said that they had heard from the report that they could look back with great pride on the progress which had been achieved since the building of the original Cottage Hospital. The hospital certainly owed a great deal to the efforts of Mr. Eccleston, particularly during his chairmanship.

Mr. Eccleston said that what he had been able to do for the hospital had been a great pleasure and he considered it a duty. He wished to thank the committee for their co-operation during the past year. They would be having a final committee meeting before the hospital was taken over and he would have something more to say on that occasion.

In conclusion the chairman expressed thanks to Mr. E. South for his work as secretary on behalf of the hospital.

PERSONAL SUPPORT FOR HOSPITALS
NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE

PERSONAL SUPPORT FOR HOSPITALS IN THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE

IS IT NEEDED?

WHAT FORM SHOULD IT TAKE?

1.—Present supporters of hospitals are asking whether their help will be needed (and if so, in what form) after the 5th July next—the “appointed day” when the National Health Service comes into operation. Hospital Managements in their turn are seeking guidance of the British Hospitals Association.

It is generally known that in the National Health Service the hospitals will be transferred to the Crown, and the full maintenance costs of the hospitals will be met from the Exchequer. Does this mean that all those who in the past by gift of money or service have interested themselves in the work of hospitals and their patients should say to themselves next July: “The State has taken over: there is nothing more for us to do”?

2.—The National Health Service Acts lay on the Minister of Health and the Secretary of State for Scotland the duty of providing a hospital service which is comprehensive: that is, a service which is available to all, and whose purpose is to meet in full the needs of those who use it. It is therefore clear that hospitals, which in the past have relied so much on voluntary financial support for their day to day maintenance, will no longer be dependent on it in that way. It has however been made equally clear that there will still be need in the hospital service for local interest, local initiative and local support; and that those generous helpers who have in the past done so much to meet human needs, to foster interest and to stimulate progress in our hospitals will continue to find in them a field in which very valuable service can be rendered to the community.

3.—Until actual experience has been gained of the operation of the new service it is not possible to forecast precisely or exhaustively the kinds of voluntary help that will be most needed. But it is possible to give a general indication of ways in which interest and support will obviously be helpful and welcome. These may take the form of personal service or of financial help.

PERSONAL SERVICE

In Hospital Management

4.—The hospitals in the new service will be administered not from the centre but by local committees of management* composed of public-spirited men and women giving voluntary service. This is the first and most obviously necessary form of personal service—to take part in the running of the hospitals, whether as a member of a committee of management* of a hospital or group, or of a House Committee of a hospital within a group. In this way local knowledge and experience can contribute to the management of the new service no less than in the past, and the channel is still provided through which local people generally can take a personal interest in the hospital's affairs. It will still be of the greatest advantage to the hospitals, and to those actually charged with their management, if there is a large body of persons taking an interest in the work of each hospital, thus providing a stimulus to greater efficiency and a source of help in promoting the welfare of patients and staff.

In Hospital Work

5.—Particularly at the present time when shortages of staff are acute, there will be ample scope for voluntary service in helping to carry out some of the work of the hospital itself. Examples may be found in the work of the Ladies' Linen Guilds in the care and maintenance of linen; or in the running of hospital libraries, or hospital canteens. No form of voluntary support could be more beneficial than to give time and energy to practical tasks of this nature. As Mr. John Edwards, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Health, has recently said: "I can see no diminution in the multifarious activities which are now undertaken by voluntary workers. It is vital that the spirit of voluntary work should be kept alive and that thereby the hospitals, which are now your hospitals, should remain your hospitals in the future."

* The term "committee of management" is used throughout to include: in England and Wales, the Boards of Governors of teaching hospitals and Hospital Management Committees of other hospitals; and in Scotland, the Boards of Management of either teaching or other hospitals.

In Welfare of Patients

6.—The patient in hospital will need just the same personal interest and sympathetic care under the new service as at the present time; and there will be many ways in which his physical and mental well-being can best be promoted by voluntary effort. The visiting of patients—particularly those who have no friends or relations in the immediate neighbourhood—and bringing them into touch with other contacts from the outside world, suggest themselves as fields in which there is considerable room for continued service. In other familiar ways the patient's stay in hospital can be cheered and progress encouraged by personal help.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

7.—Although the full maintenance costs of the hospitals will be a public charge, provision has been expressly made by the National Health Service Acts for the new committees of management of hospitals to enjoy the use of "free monies" to be spent as they think fit on hospital purposes. The hospitals will have at their disposal income* from past endowments and they will be able to receive and hold future voluntary gifts.

* In the Act for England and Wales there is some differentiation between teaching and other hospitals; the Scottish Act also differs to some extent from the English Act.

None of these gifts (including annual subscriptions and donations) will be transferable to the State, nor used to meet the cost of the hospital's maintenance.* On the contrary, committees of management will be free to apply them (subject to any express wish of the donor) in providing additional amenities for patients or staff, in undertaking experimental work of various kinds, or in supplementing in other appropriate ways the resources of the service.

It will be of the greatest benefit to committees of management, to patients and to staff alike if each hospital has at its disposal funds which can be used at discretion to meet the infinite variety of special circumstances and peculiar needs, which are bound to arise and which may not be easily or appropriately met through the expenditure of public funds.

Gifts to Individual Hospitals

8.—It may not be generally appreciated that, under the new administrative arrangements where hospitals may be grouped together for management purposes, it will still be possible for those who cherish an intimate association with a particular hospital to ensure that their financial support goes to benefit that hospital and no other.

Gifts or legacies may be accompanied by an express wish for their application for particular purposes or at individual hospitals, and in that case the committees of management receiving the gifts will hold them in trust and apply them accordingly. In this way there will be every encouragement to maintain close ties with the individual hospital, and to continue to support it.

* Where subscriptions or donations are made after the appointed day by Deed of Covenant for 7 years, with the Hospital Management Committee (or, in the case of a teaching hospital, with the Board of Governors; or, in the case of a Scottish hospital, with the Board of Management), the provisions of the Income Tax Act, 1918 as adjusted by subsequent Finance Acts affecting covenanted subscriptions will continue to apply, i.e. the hospital Committee/Board will be able to claim refund of Income Tax. The reason is that although the hospitals as such will be State Institutions, the new Committees or Boards, by virtue of the N.H.S. Act 1946, are constituted Trustees with legal corporate entity and are empowered to receive, hold and administer charitable gifts in accordance with Section 59 of the English Act (Section 58 of the Scottish Act).

From the Viewpoint of the Patient

9.—The first and most obvious object to which funds can be devoted is the promotion of the welfare of the patient. Though in a hospital everything is ultimately directed to the welfare of the individual patient, there are some things which are intimate and personal to the patient in his daily life in the hospital, with particular reference to his physical and mental comfort. Many such amenities, at one time regarded as “extras” or luxuries which were not strictly essential to the well-being of the patient, are now looked upon as necessary factors in his effective treatment, and as such will be provided as an essential part of the hospital service. There will however be additional comforts and amenities which the hospital for one reason or another is not in a position to provide from its budget, and which can be provided for by gifts of money. By the use of their “free” funds committees of management will be able to experiment and to develop new welfare activities, and thus constantly to assist in raising the standards of hospital care.

From the Viewpoint of the Staff

10.—A great proportion of the staff of any hospital is necessarily resident. A corporate community life has many advantages; but it has also defects, many of which can be remedied.

In this respect the requirements of different hospitals will vary very considerably, and the scope for public support and interest is perhaps widest in the case of the isolated hospital. The encouragement of clubs and facilities for recreation in the hospitals is a common need, and there is much that can be done from outside the hospitals to ensure that nursing and other resident staffs are not cut off from the rest of the community, but maintain social and cultural contacts with the life of their district.

From the Viewpoint of Research

11.—To many, research means the laboratory and scientific study of the problems of specific diseases like cancer or rheumatism. Hospital committees of management will be able to use their “free” funds in promoting medical research of all kinds; but the field of experiment in hospitals is by no means exclusively medical, and there will be scope for new work also in every sphere of hospital administration. The existence of "free monies" is an essential element in ensuring the exercise of individual initiative in research projects, and in reaching out for progress along new lines. It will, for example, be possible to apply them in seeking new solutions to problems of departmental organisation such as catering services, testing new forms of records or new methods of filing and analysis, and in promoting in every way the continuous increase in knowledge of the most effective practice of the different branches of hospital management.

CONCLUSION

12.—These notes are issued after consultation with the Ministry of Health and the Department of Health for Scotland and will, it is hoped, prove sufficiently indicative to enable the governing bodies of teaching hospitals and all other hospitals to explain the position as it will be to their present supporters and so retain their interest and goodwill in the future when the National Health Service comes into operation.
